

PRECIS

Title:

Antics of our Political Class

Anyone can be amazed by the volubility and skillful evasion of politicians. They showcase command over rhetorics, when they are asked about anything. Roundabout way of speaking and using long <sup>words</sup> are the tactics used by them which leaves the inquisitor in the puzzle of words. Their promises are often fake to get votes and once they are elected they forget promises. To gain the sympathy of public, they often shed crocodile tears and don't even remain firm on their stance and ideology. So, leadership is more about performance rather than serving the public.

QUESTION NO 3 Passage

Answer NO 1: It can be inferred that renewable energy production can result in damaging the environment through mining practices for extraction of elements like cadmium and tellurium used in solar