

Qno 7:-      Translation

Some students who are preparing for competitive exams are those who think that only studying the books or putting notes under the pillow will make them toppers. These are those people who after preparing for ~~those~~ two days search for requests in the prayers. The reality is that the magic stick is neither owned by anyone nor the shortcut of success. If extraordinary results are needed then extraordinary hardwork is also needed. So, next time, when you hold the cup of tea while thinking - whether should I study or not? Remember, success comes with hardwork not with non-seriousness.

Qno 3:-

Title: Art of Being a Politician

Politicians have got extraordinary rhetoric and skillfulness, evident in their governance system.

~~are~~
 is Even a simple inquiry ~~would~~ be turned into complex one with their intellect and verbosity.
 Their commitment to act of promises cannot be ignored, resembling with the autumn leaves - visible during elections and swept as soon as election over. Their dramatic skills are also praise-worthy, making audience engaged and entertained with their emotion-stirring skills. Politicians are like chameleons, adapting to the shifting political climates and discarding one ideology and another. Thus, it becomes glaring that leadership is less about public and more about performance art.
