

ENG PRECIS (TEST #3)

The Concept of Sportsmanship

Sportsmanship is the way an individual is expected to behave while playing a specific sport. It can also be said that sportsmanship are the good qualities of a player and the way he engages with others. A good sportsman must be physically fit, eager to win, and fair. But if one quality curbs the other, it could cause conflict. Nowadays sports is based on winning, this is a trend set by the elite players. A bad athlete will even cheat to win. A sore loser is a player who will show immature and childish behaviour along with blaming others for the loss while a bad winner will show disregard to the opponents feelings and will keep attacking opponents self esteem. Disregarding the esteem of the other team is reg considered being a bad sportsman.

Precis (120), Original (350)

QUESTION #2:ANSWER (1):

Sensationalism in media contributes and can lead to the public confusion. Sensationalism is - the use of and - the prioritization of like worthy content which is far away from being accurate. This leads to - the spread of false information which can even mislead individuals as it is not based on facts. Media amplifies the misinformation, creating an environment where news that is not accurate thrives.

ANSWER (2):

Media's framing of issues can lead towards confusion and polarization of public. Media can shape public's perception by oversimplifying complex matters. Media presents complex issues in a black and white manner - this in return creates polarized viewpoints of multifaced and complex issues. The oversimplifying of complex issues can lead to the lack of understanding and misinformed and confused public.

ANSWER (3):

The constant exposure to information in the 24/7 news cycle makes it difficult for an individual to make sense of the vast amount of content. The constant bombardment of information, facts and figures contributes to information overload. This leads to the fatigue of mind and as a result the public is left confused, and lessens the ability of public to critically analyze information.

ANSWER (4):

Conflicting cultural messages from media influence societal expectations and contributes to a polarized and confused society. Media shapes the cultural narratives which create conflicting messages. Because media conveys contradictory values leading to

~~ENG, PRECIS AND COMPOSITION.~~

~~TEST #3.~~

~~Sp~~

~~Sportsmanship is the way an individual is expected to behave while playing a sport. Spor~~

~~confusion. The media's focus on creating controversy and capturing attention contributes to the polarized society making their viewpoints extreme. This often leads to obvious chaos and anarchy.~~

QUESTION #3: ANTONYMS:

1. Transgression → Conformity.
2. Enervate → Energize
3. Forbear → Accept.
4. Coagulate → Dilute.
5. Daring → Encourage.
6. Bolster → Weaken.
7. Amalgamate → Separate.
8. Propitious → Optimistic.
9. Prodigious → Bright.
10. Intimidate → Encourage.