

①

35

Q NO: 1

Pakistan's Political culture is marred with extreme polarization. Explain and suggest remedies.

Introduction:

Pakistan's Political culture is marred with extreme political polarization from several decades. Political Political culture refers to the psychology of a nation in regarded to the Politics. where Political Polarization is the condition in which government and political parties are at extreme positions in which they damage national interest for its own vested interest. In Pakistan's political culture is spoiled due to absence of constitutional supremacy, weak governance, lack of delegation of powers and vested interest of Political parties.

(2)

3.5

The government need to ensure Constitutional supremacy in Pakistan, ensure peaceful negotiation among political parties and government and strengthen students unions for the prosperity and development of the state.

How Political culture spoiled political culture system of Pakistan:

In Pakistan there are several determinant which highlight political polarization in Pakistan. Some of them are given:

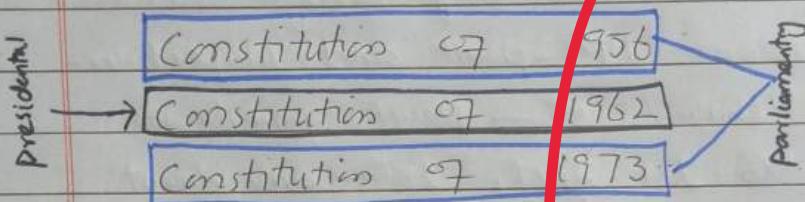

a) Absence of constitutional supremacy:

In Pakistan most of the scholars claims that there is lack of constitutional supremacy in Pakistan. In seventy seven years of life, Pakistan made three constitutional documents for distribution of power and plan for State development. But, unfortunately three time Martial law were imposed to suspended the constitution.

(3)

Ex

These abrogations ensure political polarization in Pakistan to effect the state democratic structure and political evolution.

b) High centralized government:

In Pakistan from the beginning is high centralized system of government the center possess more power which ensure the absence of devolution of power. In 2010, through 18th amendment made provincial autonomy to give most of the subject and right of decision making. Pakistan before its independence demanded for provincial autonomy through Quaid-e-Azam 14th-point and Mujeeb-ur-Rehman 6th-point formula in 1966. In fact, 18th-amendment ensure provincial autonomy but the provinces are not interest to devolve power to the local government. So, the political seem to be polarized and disturb.

(4)

3x

c) Absence of Social harmony:

In Pakistan people are socially dispense due to personality politics. Most of the citizens follow their own political leaders, which create polarization in politics of society. In a society, two political leaders have different ideology and interest.

(5)

35

that prevent people to be unite so the people become discriminated which leads to political polarization to spoil the national interest.

d) Politicization of institutions:

Most of the governmental institutions have been politicized due to vested interest of political leaders. They want its own control on state institution to help them in their goal achievement. Welfare, highly political decisions making of institutions and political appointment create disturbance in the institutional functioning and governance process.

— ?

Remedies to minimize Political Polarization:

Most of the scholars and experts suggest some remedies

(6)

6x

to reduce political polarization in Pakistan.

a) Ensure constitutional supremacy in Pakistan:

Constitutional supremacy

play an essential role to overcome the threat of political polarization.

Constitution ensures powers and responsibilities of the government and the citizens. Therefore, the government and enforcement agencies need to make Constitution as a basic document ~~to run~~ to run the state affairs and minimize the intervention of non-democratic forces in state political decision making process.

b) Conduct dialogue between the government and Political parties.

Peaceful negotiation of problems resolution is a mandatory

(7)

3x

Step for the combat of political polarization. As the government of Pakistan conduct peaceful dialogue between the government and opposition parties through the mediation of speaker. This peaceful dialogue help to solve the issues and provide opportunities for the government to work for the state growth and development.

c) Ensure devolution of power upto lower level:

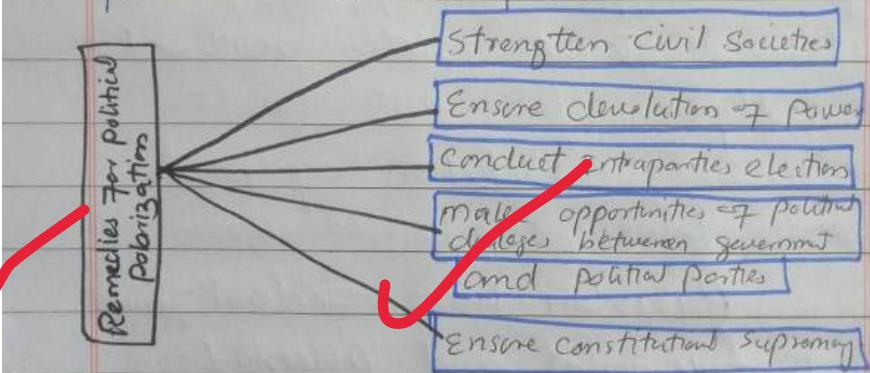

Pakistan have Federal form of government and provinces autonomy after 18th amendment Bill, the provincial government are not interested to devolve power upto the local bodies. The government need to take practical step for devolution of power to the local government system.

Add and highlight references/examples against these arguments

(8)

d) Strengthen Student unions in Pakistan:

The government responsibility to provide opportunities for collage and universities students to participate in political process which ensure the rise competitive leaderships and educated personalities in the politics.

Conclusion:

Pakistan has faced the issue of political polarization due to high centralized government, absence of constitutional supremacy and politicization of institutions. However, it need some remedies to minimize the existing political problems for the progress and development of the state.

(9)

b

Q No 03

Federal structure and parliamentary form of Government are most appropriate System for Pakistan. Answer

Pakistan have federal structure and parliamentary form of government from the beginning only in 1960s presidential form of government. Federal structure is more appropriate for Pakistan due to Ethnicity and Linguistic issues, highly Economic problem or disparities, vested territory and Constitutional supremacy while Parliamentary form of government have check hammering, ensure representation, inclusivity and participation.

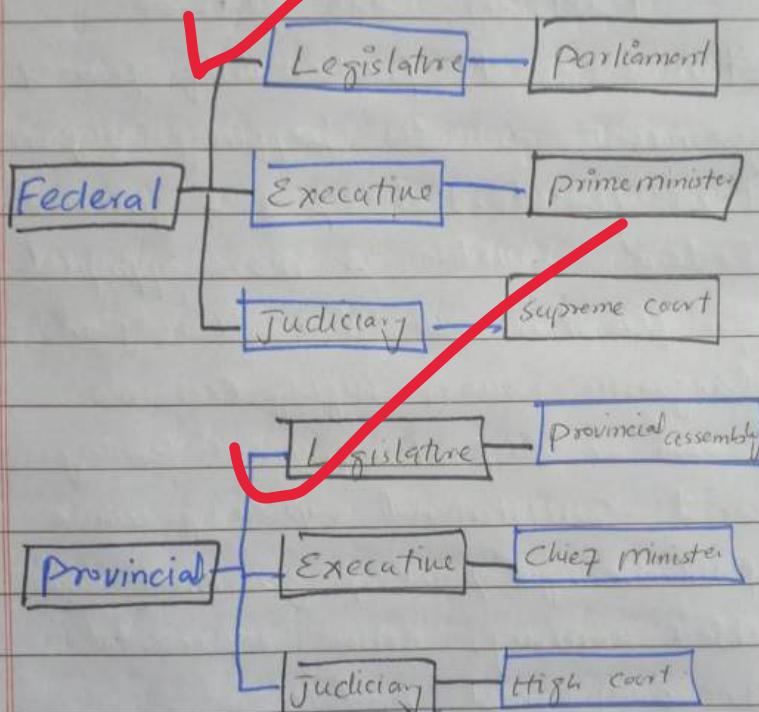

- Federal structure is more appropriate for Pakistan:

Pakistan have federal

structure that ensure devolution of power between the center and federal units. In Pakistan two government — Federal government and provincial government which have own powers and duties.

(10)

a) Ethnic and Linguistic gaps:

Pakistani society has been divided into four major provinces on the basis of its language and (11)

35

Social structure. There are Punjab, Sindh, Khyber Pakhtoon Khwa and Balochistan. Moreover, other small ethnic and linguistic minor groups are present. So the federal structure is more appropriate to ensure distribution of power and avoid grievances of every minor and major groups. For this purpose the powers are distributed between center and provinces.

b) Economic disparities and development:

On the basis of economic

(1)

Conditions and development policies are divided into three regions. In which Punjab is highly developed and more population & urbanization.
Poverty development and less population
so, the federal system is appropriate to fulfill the gaps among all to put them in one platform. As in 18th amendment specific shape one appoint for backward and poor areas.

c) Vested territories!

Pakistan has four provinces - have different culture, norms and values of the society and also have different natural resources and territorial integrity. Punjab have more fertile land while Balochistan has more natural resource and so forth. So, the federal system ensure equality
among all provinces and territories.

d) Protection:

(15)

Parliamentary Form of government as appropriate system for Pakistan:

Parliamentary Form of government are those in which executive not only part of legislature but also accountable to the legislature. It ensure participation, representation, harmony and parliamentary supremacy in the country.

- a) Ensure representation of all major and minor groups
- Pakistan have Parliamentary System of government and bicameral legislature in which the membership based on equality and population. In up, there representation based on equality which in lower house National Assembly representation based on population. So, the parliamentary

(14)

System is appropriate for Pakistan to ensure the representation of all the communities of the state.

Bi-cameral

b) Closed harmony between executive
and legislature:

In parliamentary system
executive (PM) not only the part of legislative (National assembly and Senate) but also accountable to them. There is a closed harmony in parliamentary system, which is necessary for diverse society like Pakistan to ensure stability and equality among the public.

(15)

c) Inclusivity and Participation:

In Parliamentary System of Government there is an opportunity for all members of the society to participate. It may be men or women majority groups or minority and small political parties or large political party, all have the right to participate. In Pakistan there are some small parties and minor groups that exercise its right and duties in Parliamentary system.

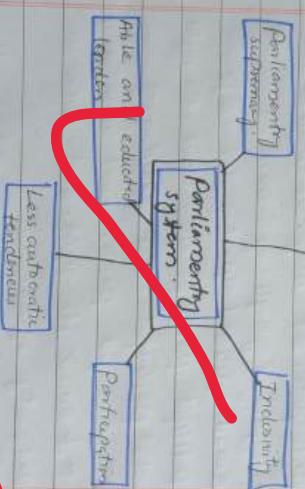

d) Responsible Government and less chances to autocratic tendencies;

In Parliamentary system the government are responsible to the public, it is because when Government do not perform its functions properly the legislative house has power to use vote of no confidence (VNC) to suspend the concerned Government Ministers.

(b)

it ensure government accountable to the public to minimize self-authority tendencies.

Representation

Conclusion:

Pakistan is an ethnic and linguistic diverse society and unit territory and also economic disparities which need Federal structure and Parliament of form of Government to ensure equality and stability among all people for the progress and development of the state.

?