

Question : 2

Introduction:

Islam is a complete code of life. It has been referred to as "Deen" because it does not only provide a set of beliefs and worships but also a code of life consisting of social, political, economic, judicial and administrative systems. It guides in every matter. The social system of Islam is based on multiple values such as dignity, equality, brotherhood and promotion of welfare among others. The Islamic society is constituted with the institution of nuclear, parents, children, relatives and community as a whole. An Islamic social system provides a framework for the Muslim societies to follow.

Social System of Islam :-

A social system refers to a system that exists b/w the individuals, groups and institutions. It unites the people from all over the society and provide with something that strengthens the society.

For Example :

A healthcare system
An education system.

Key Features of an Islamic Social System:

The key features of an Islamic social system are as under:

i. Dignity of Human:

In Islamic social system emphasises the human dignity as Allah has created all the human beings. He has created every one in the best design.

"We have honoured the children of Adam and carried them over sea and land and greatly favoured them with good things and greatly favoured them over many of those we created"

(Al-Quran)

ii- Equality:

An Islamic society is always ensures the equality of all the human beings living in it. Islam emphasises on equality of all irrespective of colour, race, religion and other differences.

"We created you from a male and a female and made you into nations and tribes so that you may know one another. The most superior among you is the one who is most righteous"

(Al-Quran)

iii- Brotherhood:

The teachings of Islam as well as the life of Holy Prophet (SAW) emphasizes the spirit of brotherhood among the people of a society.

"All the believers are brothers so reclaim between your brothers and remain conscious of Allah so that you may receive mercy"

(Al-Quran)

iv- Importance of Both the Genders:

Islam prohibits the gender discrimination. Both the male and female have separate rights and responsibilities. Both play an important role in shaping the family as well as the society or community.

"Muslim men and muslim women, believing men and believing women, obedient men & obedient women, talkful men & talkful women, patient men & patient women, humble men & humble women, charitable men & charitable women, fasting men & fasting women, men who guard their chastity & women who guard, men who remember Allah frequently and women who remember, Allah has prepared pardon for them and an immense reward"

(Al-Quran)

Promotion of welfare:

In an Islamic society, the welfare of people is promoted. Muslim people care about each other. They promote the morality and good actions and prevent the evil doings.

"You are the best community ever sent to humanity, you ~~advocate~~ advocate for what is immoral & forbid what is immoral" (Al-Quran)

vi- Concept of Responsibility:

The concept of ~~acc~~ responsibility is developed in an Islamic social system. both on personal & social level.

a- Personal responsibility:

When a person believes that he ~~would~~ will be accountable for every action & for the way he ~~inter~~ interacts in which he interacts with other, he feels the sense of responsibility.

b- Social Responsibility:

All the people of a society feel responsibility towards each other in an Islamic society. They uphold the moral & social values such as justice, equity, welfare.

vii- An effective health system:

Islam emphasises the health of human in terms of preservation of life, cleanliness and mental or spiritual health.

a- Preservation of Life:

Islam provides every person the right to live.

"Who ever save a person it is as if he saved whole of the mankind"

(Al-Quran)

b- Cleanliness & Hygiene.

Islam emphasise the personal hygiene:

"cleanliness is half the faith"

(Al-Hadith)

c- Mental & spiritual health

The muslim find peace and spiritual contentment through prayer, patience & other worships.

"Surely, it is the remembrance of Allah where hearts find peace"

(Al-Quran)

viii- An efficient education system:

The Islamic teachings emphasises on education and knowledge. Islam is based on reasoning and rationality. It exhorts a person to use his reasoning faculty:

"Those who do not have knowledge and those who have are not equal"

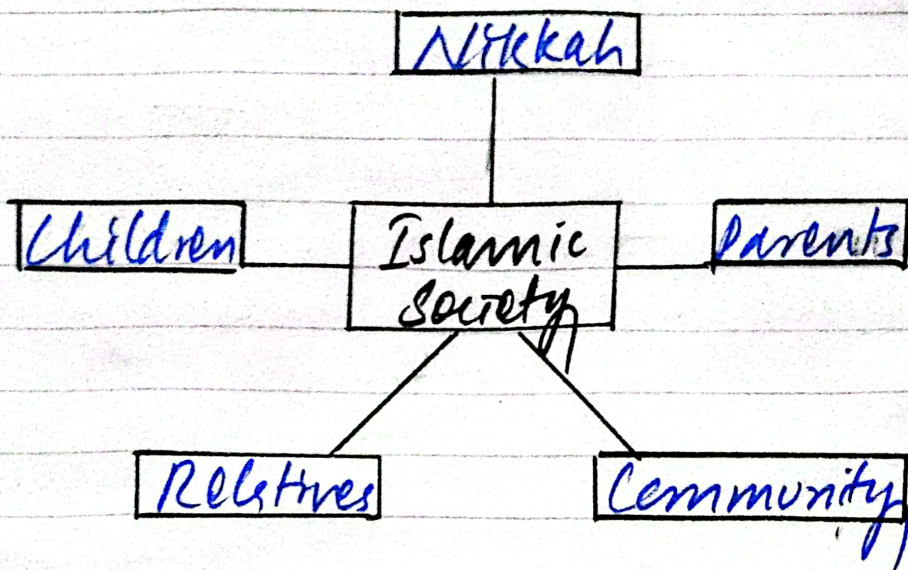

(Al-Quran)

Moreover, the prophet (SAW) was also sent as ~~an educator~~ a teacher for the men-kind. He said:

"Seeking knowledge is obligatory on every muslim"

Structure of an Islamic Society:

The Islamic society is based on the institution of Nikkah, parents, children, relatives and community as a whole. ~~On Zikr Allah (SWT)~~ emphasises to ~~more~~ young people to get marry. ;

Moreover, Islam teaches to respect parents and be kind towards them. It tells the Muslims to not to kill the children from fear of poverty. Islam emphasises the rights of relatives and the whole community.

Conclusion

Islam provides guidance in all the aspects of life. It does not only guides a person about individual life but also the social life. Every person in a society is responsible to uphold the Islamic teachings.

and values. By following this code of life, the human beings can get success in both the ~~two~~ worlds. The life of this world will get easier and an immense reward will also be presented on the day of judgment.