The outdated education system of Madrasa has always remained the biggest challenge for the developing country like Pakistan. The Government of Pakistan faced backlash in its attempts to bring reforms in Madrasa because of the conservative mindsets of the society. Reforms are taken as threat to their traditional education system. Outdated curriculum, uneducated and untrained teachers of the Madrasa can never bring good educational reforms. Government facing challenges of reforms in Madrasa along with the increasing terrorists activities against Madrasa. Once government counter the challenges, there are opportunities arising for the state. The employment of madrasa students, brutal minds of madrasa will become helping hands of the Government once the reforms implemented.

Sentence structure

Sentence structure

You are to write the opportunities in mainstreaming Madrasas. Not benefits of mainstreaming

Very incoherent. The language is grammatically weak to the point that it is entirely incomprehensible. The sentence structure is incorrect. There is no coherence in the flow of ideas and no cohesion between sentences.

Too short. Not a proper introduction. It should be 200-250 words.

You need to work on presentation. Your paper is unreadable

Hence, there are some challenges and opportunities in mainstreaming Madrasah Education in Pakistan. ~~First of all, Conservative mindsets of the society is a threat for the government to bring any sort of reform. Many of the governments tried their best to overcome the Madrasah reform challenge but all in vain. Ayub tried to change the educational system but he was called as liberal person who is against of Islamic values. Zia ul Haq and Musharraf regime attempted to bring reforms but again the Conservative mindsets hurred their way. The challenge is to counter the Conservative mindsets of the society which is a difficult task as there are the people who are taught from the Madrasah. Their upbringing is along in the Madrasah way and they find the change as a threat to their religious Education. So, to combat the huge number of Conservative mindsets to bring reforms~~

Informal expression is itself a challenge to the government educational curriculum of the Madrasa. The education in the Madrasa is divided into three steps. First comes the elementary education system where there is the teaching of Holy Quran and its interpretation. In the second stage, some Science subjects are taught. In the third stage, Holy Quran and Hadiths along with the Urdu are taught. The outdated curriculum and untrained, unprofessional teachers fail to deliver the standard education to the students. The results in the unemployment of the Madrasa students. They not get their stream jobs even they not get the government as well as private jobs. They are overburdening the Pakistan economy. Literacy rate in Pakistan is higher because of the Madrasa system fail to provide the education system which can help the poor students to get admitted in the good Universities. There is a dire need for the

The challenges in mainstreaming Madrasa education in Pakistan are numerous but if the government successfully implemented the reforms, there are various opportunities awaiting in mainstreaming Madrasa education.

First of all, there will be the less pressure on the Pakistan economy.
Pakistan is spending in millions on madrasa. The work of the madrasa is to provide food to the students along with imparting religious and some school education. But due to the outdated curriculum, the learning facility provided by the madrasa is zero percent.

Due to the uncompetitive environment, the madrasa students not find the jobs and hence the jobless students burdenize the economy as they cannot participate in the progress of the economy.
