high water usage that contributes in environmental stress. Moreover, electricity production from fossil fuels for battery charging and battery disposal without improper recycling results in addition of toxic wastes in atmosphere and environment. So, E-vehicles are environmental friendly to some extent.

(3)

The disposal of renewable energy systems like solar panels and wind turbines after their lifespans is a complex process that requires practice and resources. Without a proper infrastructure of disposal of materials or waste, toxic waste start accumulating in environment. Hence, the green promise of renewable energy is ended.

(4)

The article suggests that renewable energy is not entirely pollution free during its operational phase because of reliance on fossil fuels in solar and wind power projects along with battery storage. Batteries are functional on metals like ~~lithium~~ lithium and cobalt and their extraction from their ores is not only causing environmental degradation but also abusing the human rights.

(5)
