

Q2) Precise and Suitable Title

Politicians are referred as people having great integrity. They have matchless skills of communication. One can observe their mastery in linguistics. When someone asks them about genuine concerns they respond with already saved answers in their memory and cover these in capsule of intellect. They also master the art of making promises and commitments to the public. These promises are generally observed before elections and everything changes after they are elected, depicting their rare talent. Politicians act in the public to get public support and some of them also entertain

These are few students preparing for competitive exams, who think that mere gazing the book's cover or keeping the notes under the pillow at night will make them topper. These are the same people, who after cramming for two days start praying for a little divine intervention find favour in the prayers! The reality is that neither someone has "magic wand" nor a "shortcut" to success. If unusual result is desired, so the hard work is needed. So, next time, when you hold a cup of tea, thinking "either to study or not", do remember that success does not come with jokes rather it comes with hardwork!

remember that success comes not from tricks, but from hard work!
