Part-II

Question No # 02

Title: The Consequences of Materialism.

Precis:

Every time period has its own glamour for new inventions that bring convenience to human life. But with the passage of time, these inventions have begun to act like termites, slowly eating away the inner peace of human beings. The world of justice now favors profit over human values, which is destroying the bond of relationships. This modern era teaches human beings to focus outward, while diminishing their ability for inner judgment. This glamorous progress is in conflict with itself. Unless some form of moral development takes control of society, progress will remain nothing more than a movie and watching with minds stripped of values.
