{ QUESTION # 2 }

Precis:

The Downfall of Civilization

In every era, civilization has progressed, but it remained a superficial progress. The modern era values materialism and the moral characters are being replaced by wealth. Homes, educational places, and religious platforms are now compromised. Man prefers profit over fairness in every walk of life. Trust between people is broken and institutions are degraded. Human are taught to grasp outwardly, but not reflect inwardly. Without a revival of moral sensibility, man's

So-called progress will become a hollow stage.

{ QUESTION #3 }

(Answer #1)

The Arab leaders changed their attitude towards Pakistan after the conflict because they were impressed by tactics followed by Pakistan like digital warfare and the disciplined conduct of Pakistan's Army. They understood that Pakistan can never be underestimated.

(Answer #2)

The blackout in Delhi influenced the psychological state of India during the conflict revealed the sense of vulnerability that even the capital city can be hit by Pakistan. The complete darkness created a sense of fear and anxiety among the citizens.

(Answer # 3)

Digital warfare is the use of digital technology to attack another country's information systems, disrupt communication, or defense infrastructure.

If Pakistan had not launched digital warfare after the missile retaliation, the conflict would have turned in favor of India due to effective communication and strategies. India may have attacked back on Pakistan efficiently.

(Answer # 4)

Both of the traditional military force and digital warfare plays a key role during the conflict. If traditional military force destroys enemies' weapons (jets, tanks, artillery), the digital warfare disrupts their communication network. During the recent conflict between Pakistan and India, the later one was more decisive as it had disrupted the whole communication system of Indian Army—required to forge an effective strategy for counter-attack.

(Answer # 5)

If the events of 10 May 2025_a were to be viewed as a turning point, they reveal that "power" in the 21st century is no longer refined in traditional military forces, but in technology, narratives, and above all psychological influence.

{ QUESTION # 7 }

Margret—an old woman—goes to Embankment train station daily only to hear the announcement, "Mind the gap" in the voice of her belated husband Oswald Lawrence. This was recorded in the decade of 1970s and after the death of Oswald, Margret (felt)^x listens this voice to feel a sense of closeness. Margret contacted with Transport for London when this voice was replaced by an electronic recording. When the department realized about her feelings, it restored the voice of her husband. Now, a daily proclamation echoes with the same intense, weighty love.
