5. Conclusion.

→ Restating thesis statement.

In Lahore, there was an aspirant, who was very passionate about competitive exams. He usually, used to tell his friends about his dream to crack CSS Exam. Just after his graduation, he started the Preparation of CSS Exam. Meanwhile, his Preparation was not upto the mark because he was lacking interest in studies. Therefore, he quit his Preparation, not because he don't have ability but due to fact that he don't have any feeling of love and affection for his work. So, love is something that act as an driving force for work. If one doesn't have love with his work he would certainly failed. Therefore, only way to do great work is to do it with love because Love acts as an driving force which is vital for exceptional achievements, without love greater work can't be ~~to~~ accomplish.

Love is an feeling of affection which is developed in one's heart. when someone loves anything, he wants to make it perfect in every possible sense. So, love is necessary for great work, because this feeling of affection acts as an catalyst. Therefore, love makes the efficiency of work better and perfect.

~~The~~ ~~Inter~~ With this integration of love ~~with~~ and work, one may achieve any thing in life.

As a great work demands characteristic qualities of dedication, patience and consistency. These qualities only developed in those individuals, whom have feeling of love with their work. When this feeling emerged, it will eventually leads to bigger success. For instance, an aspirant who is preparing for civil services Exam needs to have love with his work, because it will help him to adopt consistency and to put dedication in his work.

Meanwhile, sacrifices also played a very vital role in the achievements of exceptional work. Among all kinds of sacrifices, the sacrifice of one's own wealth is very important for doing remarkable work for the betterment of humanity. The most expensive machine ever build by mankind is International space station, it costs almost 150 billion dollars. This giant machine was build to protect humanity by predeeting various kinds of natural events, - by communicating with the stellite networks, such as weather patterns, volcanic eruption and many more.

However, steller work also requires devotion of health and in the absence of love it may not be possible. Case in point, the founder of Pakistan Mr. Jinnah was diagnosed with fatal disease of T.B, which eventually became reason for his death. ~~But~~, Despite of such a fatal and deadly disease, Mr. Jinnah had never procrastinated, because he had ~~love~~ with the feeling of affection with his work.
And, he had a greater mission in front of him, which was even bigger for him than his own health. So, this was the love of Mr. Jinnah with oppressed muslims which acted as an driving force for him.

In Addition to This, excellent job requires a lot of time and energies, and without love it is difficult to achieve.

To illustrate, Prophet Noah's Struggles was expanded over to 950 years. He gave Preaching of oneness of God to his nation day and night. But, after the struggle of 950 years, only a chunk of people accepted him as divine Prophet. He never gave up, because had a greater mission — to save his nation from the wrath of God. He had the feeling of love and affection with his nation, which was the main reason behind his such a great Struggle.

To some great extent, bravery is also essential for doing remarkable work, and it can never be achieved without love. For instance, the war hero of 1965, M. M. Alam, downed five Indian fighter jets in record time. Later, when he was interviewed, he told that he has had a great feeling of affection with his motherland and this was the feeling that was behind in that dog fight and his victory.
