Question No:1

The Arab leaders were greatly impressed by Pakistan's digital warfare. They were inspired by the discipline and strategies that Pakistan used against India, enabling it to win and defeating India.

These strategies represent Pakistan as a potential state around the globe, and the Arabs regarded it as a powerful nation.

Question No:2

Pakistan's strategic use of digital warfare impressively shocked India. Pakistan managed to shift the battlefield from the ground level to the digital platform. This dynamic shift in the battlefield brought positive results, as the Indian Royals never dares to attack again

Q No: 3

If Pakistan had not developed its digital warfare capabilities, the missiles from Indian Army would have increased, potentially leading to a war. This would cause more destruction and death in both countries. Pakistan's democratized potential to win through strategic digital advancement helped in the settlement of the issue and brought about positive outcomes, rather than restoring to shooting and destroying the cities and infrastructure of both countries.

Qno: 4

~~Traditional military force and digital warfare both are the effective means of protecting the nation and fighting against the army. However, in relation to the modern era, digital warfare is more efficient, as it creates a sense of a favorable, needs to be that requires effective planning, and random solutions can not be used to resolve this issue.~~

~~Although these both are quite efficient, but digital warfare is the most haunted war phase, creating a situation that becomes difficult to handle easily, making the opponent feeling helpless and defeated.~~
