In 21st Century, while chaos and disruptions across the world is rampant; disruption of international global order, violation of nations integrity and sovereignty. It seems like world is plunge into lawlessness and renewal of world wars occurred in past history. In state of chaos and disruption, ~~embracing societies~~ sense is extremely necessary for developing countries. As it plays unprecedented role to shape the destiny of nations.

Moreover, it plays pivotal role to maintain political stability as consistent policies shifting the destiny of nations. Furthermore, tax evasion is consistent issue faced by nations as it halted ~~resilience in economy and resultantly society turns into non-functioning economy.~~ ~~Work on your grammar~~ In addition to, efficient governance system is dire need of how as it maintain normalcy in daily life affairs and society based on the way of progress and prosperity. Nevertheless, it plays effective role in maintaining law and order situation in the society.

likewise, the society can become tolerant by ~~embracing civic sense~~. However, civic sense contributes to ~~need of law-abiding behavior, citizens and do not force and coercion to regulate the behavior.~~

Furthermore, if the society has the civic sense then it follows rules and regulations, which is the aim of the successful societies. However, due to lack of civic sense it spurred serious concerns to the society.

Too much use of conjunction like society fall into Hobbesian State of lawlessness and ultimately undermining national development. Thus, civic sense is very important for the society as it plays unprecedented role to maintain normalcy in daily life affairs and efficient governance.

~~governance system. Thus, society turn into developed society.~~

The term ~~civic sense~~ means respecting each other rights, maintaining law-abiding behaviour, follow the rules and regulations; one does not need force and coercion to regulate the behaviour. For example in developed societies, where ~~civic sense among masses is high like in Singapore, government does not place high restriction and sanction to regulate the behaviour of the public. Because the public has civic sense and educated.~~ By this way, today Singapore ~~govern~~ is ranked one among the nations of the world: ~~Pangpat Index 2004 Report.~~ These figures shows how Singapore adopt resilient policies and work on human development as it perhaps her development in the world. Resultantly, it invested in cultivating civic sense which ⁱⁿ turns to successful country of the world. Thus civic sense plays exorbitant role to shape the destiny of nations.

Civic Sense plays effective role to making a resilient economy. As discussed prior paragraph, civic sense means citizens do not require coercion and extreme regulations to regulate the behaviour. In this scenario, citizens ~~hinder~~ themselves fulfilling the tax policies like payment of taxes in time as nations are thrown into resilience. For example in Pakistan, there is low civic sense which sparked serious concerns like weak governance system, political instability and low tax net; where elites are deliberately avoid to pay taxes and by this way today society fall into moribund economy and soaring inflation. So if the society has Civicsense plays pivotal role in realm of governance system. As Governance Index Report 2015, Scandinavian countries have placed top most rank among other nations of the world. These societies are consistently striving for investing in human development which turns into reflecting civicsense among members and ultimately on the way to progress and prosperity in the society. There are innumerable causes like high importance of education, employment opportunities and skill-gifted activities for youth and epitomizing global talent; remarkably all those factors contributes to crafting good governance system. for example Sweden and Switzerland are the places known for developed, high life expectancy-ratio, robust institutions and especially peace in those societies. One of the reason is high civicsense; respecting rights, law-abiding behavior which is turn to develop the society and governance system. Thus civicsense plays effective role in realm of governance. Ultimately it turns to lead and maintain law and order situation in the society.

Utensil its role in governance realm, it plays huge role in maintaining law and order situation in the society. Usually, state has institutions which maintains law and order situation in the society. It involves policies which use of force and regulations in society to regulate the behavior of citizens. Its mobility is high.

iii. Those societies which have high crime ratio, and citizens are not law-abiding; all this is because of low civic sense. For example, in Nigeria, Sudan and Mali, there is high crime ratio, lawlessness, negligible investment in education and health which turns into state of despair. In these areas, low civic sense, police mobility is high as it requires excessive force to regulate and maintain law and order situation. But if there is civic sense than it does not require high checks, force and coercion. Thus, civic sense plays an effective role to maintain law and order situation. Not only law and order situation but also contributes to become tolerant society.

Similarly, civic sense is contributing to becoming a tolerant society; As it involves in respecting difference of opinions, freedom of expression and speech and acknowledgement of the rights of marginalized communities. for example in Europe where all rights of communities are well protected; one can easily exercise one's religion and belief. Comparatively, in Afghanistan, pro-taliban Taliban government used crippling measures against the citizens of the country which was rated of civic sense as recently published by Global freedom of speech Report 2024. It shows staggering figures of worst civic sense, low education and banning of females getting education, spurred serious concern for the society. So if the society has civic sense by just investing in awareness programs, education and human development than it leads the nation. Thus civic sense is a source of becoming a tolerant society which is pre-requisite for national development.

Civic sense not only contributing to tolerant society but also effectively plays role in maintaining law-abiding behavior. It is the civic sense who play effective role to law-abiding behavior and follow the rules and regulations provided by state. In developed societies where high human development index, follow the rules and regulations of the state, maintaining law-abiding behavior considered positive outcomes for the whole society. like high employment, low crime rate, friendly environment, resilient economy and communities pushed each other to gain these goals and objectives. On contrary, those societies which have low civic sense spurred serious concerns and explosive ramifications for the entire society. like undermine development, soaring inflation, high crime rates. Thus civic sense plays paramount role critical role to maintain law-abiding behavior in the society.

However, due to lack of civic sense, it spurred serious impacts on society like society fall into Hobbesian state of 'lawlessness'. As discussed earlier paragraphs, it has explosive ramifications for the society, like declining of natural goals, high crime rates, low employment opportunities and soaring inflation. for example in Iraq, Libya and Afghanistan, source of terrorism is past history but today low civic sense dominate the whole spheres of society. In Afghanistan where women are deprived from getting education, stifle dissent and ultimately prevail of suppression and repression in the society. likewise in other countries state of lawlessness is prevailed due to low investment in human human development index and low skill-full activities which turns society into chaos and disruption. Thus civic sense plays critical role among marginalized minorities and maintaining order in the society. It not only maintains rules and regulations in the society but also neglected natural development, a dilemma of small global countries. for example In Niger, a hub of terrorism and known for large unrest in the society due to govt is not investing in civic sense and ultimately prevailed in the society like undermining of national development which mean low civic sense, low education, high communicable diseases due to lack of investment in health sectors, negligible opportunities for employment, low engagement of citizens and all these factors affecting delayed natural development of the society. Then low civic sense has directly proportional to undermining the natural development. But there are countries which embraced this concept and today known for same as rapid development in technology and human fields of life. Japan, is the country which knowns for its high investment in human development is high civic sense, high literacy rate, low crime rates, high employment opportunities, sophisticated cutting-edge technologies. In 2019, fifa world cup at Japan, where residents of Japan were cleared the whole football stadium been left by crowd. It is proved high civic sense. It has innumerable lesson for policies where it can turn the society into tolerant, effective and role-model for other countries too.

Thus, the importance of civic sense in developing countries is paramount as it maintains political stability by placing consistent policies which in turn to progress and prosperity of the society. like it effectively contributes to resilient economy which in due need of the law for the effective function. It also enhances law and order situation which is quite pathetic in law-less countries where law civics sense is prevailed. it has critical role in making tolerant society and also pivotal role in maintaining law-abiding behaviour for the citizens of the country. However, due to lack of civic sense it spurred serious concern like Hobbesian state of lawlessness and hindering national development of the society. There are countries in the world who adopt civic sense and get rid of social evils of the society and turn into progress and prosperity of the society.
