Precis:

Where is Title???

The passage says that while we live in a world full of modern technology, wealth and rapid growth, we have lost touch with important values like honesty, kindness, and self-control, people care more about money than about being good human beings. Institutions like homes, schools and religious centers, once defenders of ethics, now

Don't write "I, we, our, us" in Precs
It is blunder in Precs
Follow the basic Precs rules

Precis is written in single passage

Even relationships are judged by benefit, not love. In this fast-paced world, success is measured by money, not character. As comfort grows, inner peace and true happiness fade. Without a return to moral values, humanity risks becoming spiritually empty despite its material progress.

Precis should be one 3rd of original passage
Your passage reflect the original idea
Don't take direct sentences from the passage
It is not the narration of prec
Title should be self-defining and self-explanatory to the passage

Margaret, an elderly lady, visits London's Embankment train station every day—just to hear the voice of her late husband

In the 1970s, a recording was made in which a voice announced "Mind the gap!"

Please follow the original passage

This announcement was in the voice of Oswald Lawrence, who worked for London Transport. After his death, his wife Margaret found comfort in hearing her husband's voice

In 2012, when the voice was removed, Margaret requested for the recording to be restored. Since then, the voice has been played again.
