Q. Translate the following into English, keeping in view the idiomatic/figurative expression.

If you can go to bed at night without the world weighing heavily on your mind, if the fear of Allah moves you to tears, and the thought of Hell makes you pause and reflect on your choices then your heart is in the right place. If you worship Allah with sincerity, not just out of habit but with love and awareness, if you're drawn towards goodness, and something inside you holds you back from making the wrong choices, then you're walking the path of righteousness. Some people are born this way, but many grow into it, through time and effort. Being righteous is a blessing - but becoming righteous is a journey. It takes patience, constant self-checking, and the strength to keep going even when it's hard. But every step you face along the way shapes you into something better.
