

Ayesha Shabbir

OB # 078

LMS ID = 38975

Comprehension

Questions

Q1: What has been lamented in the text?

In this passage, it has been shown that the man lacks the ability to think about it that what he should do and how he should do it. His inability to recognize the moral values of things and lack of analytical thinking about nature make him ordinary man. Then a man seeks pleasure in ornamental things by paying money and life becomes distasteful.

Q2: What is the difference between ordinary man and an artist?

The difference between ordinary man and an artist is the aesthetic activity and innovation which create the inner strength to reveal natural beauty in his work which he do. The ordinary man lacks the critical thinking to see the nature and exercise it in his work but an artist has the ability to seek out the adventures in nature and put the moral values in things that he made.

Q3: How can we make our lives beautiful and charming?

We could make our lives beautiful and charming by exploring the natural values and then exercise them in our things to enhance the beauty and moral values.

The innovation, determination and aesthetic activities have great moral values which implies in the beauty of things, so that lives make beautiful and fruitful.

Q4: What does the writer actually mean when he says, "Beauty is not an ornament to life."

According to the writer, beauty is not an ornament to life. It means that best beauty of life is to explore nature, recognize moral values and put them in the things which you made. If you buy ornamental pieces by paying extra money is the loss of your aesthetic values. The beauty is an ornament when you exercise the natural beauty is real beauty.

5: Do art and beauty affect our practical life and moral? Justify whether you agree or disagree.

The art and beauty affect the practical life and moral values, which are necessary to make relation with nature. I agree with this point that the art and beauty enhances the spiritual desires and aesthetic activity is required to explore the spirits present in natural beauty.
