

Topic: Women empowerment

Empowering woman is the key to empower your house since they play a key role in upbringing the new generation that will lead the society. Women are amongst the first person with whom a child is attached to after birth, and the most part of upbringing is done by her. And therefore 'empowering a woman is like empowering the whole house'. If we see different areas or domains women were empowered have brought intense respect for the country. Either in sports, military, showbiz etc. Such strong women such as Sharmeen Obaid Chinoy ~~2x~~ two times Oscar winner, Lt Gen Nigar Johar being first lady surgeon general of Pakistan, Muniba Mazari even after her disability speaking on public forum motivating females, Malala Yousafzai and fight against terrorism for getting education and many other great females achieved this because they were empowered. A woman can be treated as fragile ornament but even the glass becomes dangerous when it is carved like a knife, and a knife can do anything there. The society feels scared to do this because then the woman will know their basic fundamental rights and the male dominant society will never want to lose its dominance. And this is because these traditions are being followed from generations, and well no one will like to lose its dominance. But in parallel the society is becoming hazardous for woman to live since boys are not taught to respect woman since they might have not seen in their houses, or not addressed in a way that outside females also have dignity and needed to be treated equal. And even the ~~Females~~^{Females} know if it's not even their mistake and they share it with their parents in return themselves they will get themselves chained up. Rather the parents should empower their daughters and also teach their son to respect, because we cannot clap with only one hand then.
