If the world doesn't attract you towards its if the fear of Allah causes tears to come in your eyes, if the concept of the hell make you god-fearing, if you worship Allah as it should be done, if the goodness draws you towards itself and you restrain yourself from the devil path then you are righteous. Some people are actually good and some just pretend. Being righteous is a fortunate thing. It is a process of consistent purification and struggle. It takes time and patience.
