Translation:

If the world fails to attract you, your eyes well up with tears out of fear of God. If even the thought of hellfire strikes fear in your heart, if you worship God as He ought to be worshipped, goodness pulls you in and you reject the path of evil, then you are a righteous person. Some people are born righteous, while others become so. Becoming virtuous is a constant effort of self-purification and discipline. It requires time and comes with hardship.
