"A thing of beauty is a joy forever"

The quotation, a thing of beauty is joy forever is taken from the poem of famous poet John Keats. Beauty is lies in nature, people, objects and in every-minute thing in the universe. The phrase means that beauty of a thing last forever and its happiness never dies. Beauty is the main thing which inspire one even in the hardships. When someone feels depressed or stressed, that decided to visit the hilly areas or where there is beauty of nature - And by feeling the serenity of nature's beauty one feels good and mentally relaxed and calm - Same case in the art-gallery, because there is much beauty in art-works. People visit and sit in front of an painting to deeply analyze the beauty of that specific picture. When person is busy in detailing or analyzing every tiny detail of fine art and beauty, that person forgets for a while about the pathetic and difficulties going on in his life.

Man loves nature and nature too is the second name of beauty - In other words, if someone is in love with other than no matter what features of his beloved have that person just inspired by beloved every look. Beauty of anything is so much admiring as when Prophet Joseph went to Egypt and became slave there, he was so elegant, beautiful that his owner's wife Zulekha cut her fingers with knife while seeing Prophet Joseph, when she was cutting ~~of~~ fruit for herself. So, beauty is that much the point of everlasting thing. Beauty does not mean to be just man-made, it can be artificial as well. Man inspires or attracts mostly towards most beautiful thing.
