Women empowerment.

Women empowerment can be defined as ~~providing~~ Women demanding their rights and wanting gender equality. Women rights has always been oppressed by male dominated society. In developing countries being a woman is equal to being a less worthy being. They are paid less for equal work and have legal boundaries on them. Moreover, ~~sex~~ harassment at different platform is another issue. This movement started to support women and protect their right. So, they can have equal opportunities. ~~Many women were unable~~

This movement has helped so many women to step out of their homes and get a job, because of this they are able to get financial independence. ~~This women~~

It is important for us to empower women, so they can be much more than a housewife. They can be leaders as well. The society has always expected women to be dumb, that they can't understand how the world works because of this - they weren't even allowed to ~~not~~ vote. But thanks to this movement we can see women in male dominated fields they are world leaders and are working neck on neck with men. Although some countries are still behind but hopefully they will catch up soon.
