

Day: _____

Date: _____

Name :- Ehtisham Ahmad Jadoon

LMS ID :- 38669

(KP PMS-03)

Paragraph Writing

Women Empowerment

Men and women are just like tyres of a car, if any tyre has any defect, the car cannot be driven smoothly. In the same manner, the journey of life ^(of) will be at halt if any of partner is not ready and compatible. Women empowerment is regarded as part and parcel for the development of any society. This paragraph explores the contributions of women empowerment towards social, economical and political development of a country.

When a woman is empowered, she becomes independent which is a great step towards social security. An empowered ^{women} can bring up her children with more responsibility which is good for society as a whole. In Islamic history, muslim women played a great role in fostering a ~~of~~ prosperous society.

Women empowerment also results in economic progress of a family as well as ~~the~~^a country. A woman with job can shoulder the economic burden of a family along with her husband. In Bangladesh, ~~about~~ about half of the workers are women in textile industries contributing towards the economic prosperity of the country.

Day:

Date:

An empowered woman can be a great leader. Women in politics will lead to effective legislation and ^{effective} efficient administration. In Pakistan, female participation is quite prominent. Benazir Bhutto was first elected Prime Minister of a Muslim Country. The election of Droupadi Murmu, first Indian President belonging to Scheduled Caste, shows significance of women empowerment.

In the nutshell, it can be concluded that women ^{empower} empowerment contributes towards social cohesion, economic and political evolution of a country. Women empowerment not only helps women to secure education and jobs but also lay ^{down} the foundation of a nursery for nurturing future generations.