

A Thing of Beauty is a joy Forever

B

"Beauty lies in the eyes of Beholder." This famous rhetoric depicts what one individual considers beautiful may not look beautiful to another. To me, beauty is not objective. It is not only that ~~pleases eye~~ that makes you see ~~beauty~~ the lovely sight. When we talk about the people we often refer to their physical appearances but its their inner beauty that captivates the most. Their personalities, kindness, compassion towards the other people that make them beautiful persons in the eyes of people. Two well-known personalities who exemplify this are Nelson Mandela and Mother Teresa. They sacrificed their lives for bringing justice and giving new lives to people.

Topic was not on beauty but you have to give arguments how and why a thing of beauty is a joy forever

Avoid first person pronoun (I and we)

Artist across time have appreciated beauty in the form of Art, inspiring from nature's beauty they painted ~~classical~~ boards, musicians, who composed beautiful melodies, Architects, who built magnificent monuments that amazed people of every century, all because of the beauty it beholds.

Beauty is also found in simplest forms. A small gift from a loved one, a kind gesture from a stranger and a little achievement from continuous efforts, indeed, becomes a joy forever.
