1. Women Empowerment

Empowerment is a social action process that promotes participation of people, organizations ^{well connected and quite} in gaining control over their lives in their community and around the globe. Women empowerment generally gives the sense of moving from patriarchal mindset to the liberal perspective, giving women enough strength and courage to ^{turn} ~~make~~ their vivid ideas into the reality. By empowering women power is redistributed with new resources of ideology.

These resources may be categorized into physical, intellectual, financial, emotional, personal and at formal level for bringing innovation. At personal level women develops the feeling of self sufficiency and brave attitude to resolve various matters. Benazir Bhutto laid an example in Muslim world being first female president. She polished herself to serve the nation.

Women are capable of turning the history into glorious phase by eliminating hunger and pandemic.
Mother Teresa serve the humanity without religious or gender discrimination.
Rith Paou took a stand for the patients of leprosy which seems to be a dangerous and life threatening disease. It is because of her efforts that leprosy has come to an end in Pakistan. Feminist seek to empower themselves through greater self reliance. Feminist not only work for themselves but also demand for equal and fair rights for the rest of women, whose rights have been neglected. Misbah sisters are empowering the women by giving them professional skills. Women empowerment helps in improving the standard of life in rural and urban areas, preventing crimes and domestic violence against women. Maryam Nawaz (CM of Punjab) has enabled Punjab to contribute 60% in Pakistan's GDP. Women empowerment is not only supported by the Islam but also by the state by adding various articles in constitution that safeguard rights of women. Article 25 grants equal rights without gender discrimination. Article 34 promotes participation of women in all spheres of national life. Women have reserved seats in National Assembly and in various other platforms for their representation. Pak has enacted several laws to protect women rights including the Domestic Violence by passing prevention and protection bills in 2009 and Protection against
