Title : Money is not the answer

this title is irrelevant

It is quite impossible that for a civilized person ~~-~~ money is the ~~the~~ ultimate goal. Same as he likes to have dinner but it ~~not~~ is not his primary objective. All such people appreciate the process more than the outcome. A soldier's main purpose is to win battles, clergy love preaching, faith and a good doctor cures his patients. No doubt, they all love to be paid but if they are intellectual and brave their ~~main~~ main ambition can never be material. Similarly, all capable men prioritize their work over money.
