Title should be a phrase, not a sentence
Job Fulfillment Precedes Financial Gains

It is unthinkable for an intelligent man to view money as the main focus of his life as ~~one does not make dinner the main even of one's day.~~ While it is normal to enjoy making money; real fulfillment should come from the work itself. It is similar to how soldiers, clergymen and doctors feel grateful for their pay, yet their actual satisfaction comes from their jobs. Hence, for such right minded individuals, their jobs precede their monetary rewards.
