

Brave and Wise Value Work 'Over Wages

A well-educated, wise and courageous man can not set money as the main goal of their lives, although they like it. All people like making money, but the pleasure in winning it is better than money. The main mission of a doctor is to cure. A good doctor would prefer to cure his patient without getting fee rather than killing him and got paid. So, all educated and wise men value their work over wages.

Don't skip ideas
In precis you may shorten examples

Total words = 76