

06
DATE: 17/25

DAY: _____

this is not a relevant title

Money As a Substitute for Pleasure

Wise man has no lust for money, and money for him is just as important as food. Earning money is just for pleasure like soldier who get pleasure by his work and not from the salary of his work to much extent. Similarly clergyman gain pleasure from illustrating and preaching. Although Doctors want money for their services but gaining money is not their actual purpose.
Good Doctors saved patient lives without fee, but some Doctors let patients to die if they cannot afford. It is the case of all skilled man.

Precis Words: 89

read the passage again this is not satisfactory in any form

0/20