

①

Most of us fail in our efforts at self-improvement because we set our goals too high and we never have time to actually work for them.

②

It is a basic mistake to announce our resolution to everybody because when we do not complete our resolution and continue <sup>our</sup> old habits, we look stupid to others.

③ The writer did not carry out his resolution on New Year's Day because on first day, he was lazy. Next day, he tried to keep up a little as his family was observing him, even though he was not fully accomplishing. Eventually, his family got used to it and his passion faded.
