Question # 01

Why most of us fail in our efforts for self-improvement?

Answer

Most of us fail in our efforts for self-improvement because we tend to set overly ambitious goals that are difficult to achieve within our daily routines. These goals are often unrealistic given our time constraints and existing habits. As a result, we struggle to maintain consistency and eventually give up. Additionally, the disappointment from previous failures discourages us from trying again. The writer suggests that our inability to stick to a routine, combined with the pressure to see immediate results, leads us to abandon our resolutions early on.

Question #02

Why is it a basic mistake to announce our resolution to everybody?

Answer

It is a fundamental mistake to publicly announce our resolutions because it creates unnecessary pressure and raises expectations among others. When we fail to keep our resolutions, we not only feel disappointed in ourselves but also embarrassed in front of those who are aware of our goals. This can lead to a loss of confidence and motivation. The writer explains that this social pressure makes the failure more visible and humiliating, which further discourages future attempts at self-improvement.

Question #03

Why did the writer not carry out his resolution on New Year's day?

Answer

The writer did not carry out his resolution on New Year's Day because he had attended an overnight party on New Year's Eve. This party left him tired and provided a convenient excuse to delay starting his resolutions. Although he had planned to begin exercising and reading on January 1st, he postponed these activities due to the aftermath of the celebration. This highlights how external events and lack of discipline can interfere with the best of intentions.
