

Question #1

Precis

professionals prioritize their goals rather than just wealth

Title:

~~Sincerity to One's Profession~~

Providing the best services is the primary aim of professional people. They value their work more than money. As a well-educated soldier always fights to win the battle, not for any financial reward. Similarly, a clergy like preaching, and doctor like curing his patients more than fees. So, for every sincere professional, his work holds more value than his monetary gain. ~~Although fee is important, it always comes secondary — work always comes first.~~ yet it has secondary purpose
