

Well-Trained and Brave Intellectuals Never Prioritize Money over Work

~~An~~ Intellectual and brave people always prioritize their work over money. They perceive their earnings only as a source of their meal. Which is although liked by a healthy person, but it does not serve as the prime object of his life. So, All the intellectuals who are engaged in the service of other people never prefer money over their job. Although they like to earn money but not at the expense of their work for humanity.

Total words = 234
Preci words = 77

need improvement
be precis and to the point
be careful about basic grammar 6/20