Translation

History has been filled with such successful people who started their lives with troublesome circumstances. But in the long run they listed among the most successful and renowned personalities. Success, honour and fame are not presented to you in a dish only money can be presented to you in a dish. One condition is also necessary for this, that your ancestors must have property then only you will have money. You can buy materialistic things from money but you cannot buy happiness. Sometimes it takes decades for a person to be honoured but it takes a second in being dishonoured or rude.
