History is filled with accounts of successful individuals who started their lives in extremely difficult circumstances, yet rose and made their name among world's most accomplished and renowned individuals. Success, respect & fame are never handed down while wealth can be but that too on a condition that your ancestors leave you with inheritance. Money can buy you ^{riches} luxuries of the world but not happiness. ^{sometimes} It takes decades for a man to earn respect but only a moment to become disrespectful and controversial.
