Translation

History is full of such successful people who started their lives in extremely difficult situations but later on they counted to be among the accomplished and famous personalities on the world.

Success, honour and fame are ^{not} placed in your plates ever. Only wealth can be kept / placed in your plate. For this, there is also a condition precedent that your ancestors must have property, only then you can get the fortunes. You can buy worldly essentials with money but cannot purchase contentment. Sometimes, it takes decades for a person to earn respect. One moment is enough to incur disgrace or to become controversial.
