Translation

History is filled with such people who started their lives in extremely difficult conditions, but later on, they were counted among the successful and famous personalities of the world. Success, respect and fame cannot be earned easily; only money can be obtained easily, but there is also a condition that your ancestors must have inherited properly, then only you can have money. Money can fulfil your worldly needs, but you cannot buy happiness with it. Sometimes, it takes centuries to earn respect, but a single moment is enough to become dishonoured or controversial.
