

Part - II

~~2~~ Question No: 2

~~Introduction:~~ The doctrine of Prophethood refers to the divine appointment of chosen individuals to convey Allah's guidance to humanity. These messengers serve as moral examples and guide humanity towards righteous and ethical conduct. From Adam (A.S.) to the final prophet Muhammad (S.A.W.A), the messengers have played a pivotal role in delivering divine revelations, offering spiritual enlightenment and preserving the monotheistic belief in the oneness of God.

Doctrine Of Prophethood

• Concept of Prophethood in Islam:

The concept of Prophethood is mentioned in the Holy Quran. Quranic verses such as,

~~We have sent to every community a messenger, saying, 'Worship Allah and avoid false goods.'~~

(AL-Quran 16:36)

• Belief in All Prophets:

Belief in all prophets, fosters a sense of unity among believers recognizing the interconnectedness of the messages conveyed by various prophets in upholding the oneness of God and moral conduct.

Additionally, it is a fundamental tenant in Islam, as the Quran says,

~~"Say, we believe in Allah and what has been revealed to us, and what has been revealed to Abraham, Ishmael, Isaac, Jacob, and the Descendents, and in what was given to Moses, Jesus, and the Prophets from their Lord. We make no distinction between any of them, and to Him we submit"~~

(AL-Quran 3: 84)

~~Finality Of Prophethood:~~

This concept is crucial in Islam, emphasizing that Prophet Muhammad (S.A.W.W) is the last in the line of messengers sent by Allah.

Nazrat Muhammad (S.A.W.W)
declared,

There is no Prophet
after me

• Mission Of Prophet for

Monoltheism: The Prophet's mission for monoltheism is a foundational aspect of Islam, fostering a connection between individuals and the singular creator, and guiding humanity towards righteousness and spiritual unity. Quran states,

“And we certainly sent into every nation a messenger, (saying), worship Allah and avoid Taghut (false gods).”

(AL-Quran 16:36)

Importance Of the Doctrine Of Prophethood:

• Inspiration during Adversity:

The preservation of prophets, such as Prophet Muhammad's (PBUH) steadfastness during the Battle of Uhud, offers believers solace and motivation in challenging times. The Quran states,

“So be patient. Indeed, the promise of Allah is truth.”

(AL-Quran 30:60)

• Source Of Guidance:

Prophets provide divine instructions for leading a righteous life, helping individuals distinguish between right and wrong.

• Moral and Ethical Framework:

Their teachings promote virtues like honesty, compassion and justice essential for personal and societal well being.

• Spiritual Enlightenment:

Their lives and teachings serve as models for spiritual growth and closeness to Allah. Quran states,

“Indeed, there has to come to you from Allah a light and a clear Book”
(Quran 5:15)

~~Conclusion: Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) is the final messenger of Allah, and no prophet will come after him. This belief completes the message of Islam and is essential to the faith of every Muslim.~~

~~Topic Question No: 3~~

~~Justice: The concept of justice in Islam is rooted in God's divine nature. The Quran states:~~

~~Verily, God does not do even an atom's weight of injustice.~~

~~(AL-Quran - 4:40)~~

~~The Prophet Muhammad (SAW) quotes God as saying~~

~~O My Servants, I have forbidden injustice upon myself and have~~ made it forbidden amongst you, so do not commit injustice.

In this saying of the Prophet, we see a connection between how humans ought to act and our knowledge of God's divine qualities.

Additionally, Muslims are encouraged to embody God's qualities, such as compassion and fairness, in their interactions, fostering a just society.

Beneficence: In religion, it refers to the act of kindness and goodwill towards others, often emphasized as a fundamental principle in various faiths, encouraging followers to engage in charitable deeds and compassionate behaviour.

Pillars of Islamic practice

- i Zakat (Charity): This is a pillar of Islam where muslims are obliged to give a portion of their wealth to the poor and needy.
- ii:- Qadar-al-Yassas (Benevolent Loans): These are interest free loans given to those in need, with the understanding that they should be repaid when possible.

~~Conclusion: Justice and Ehsan are foundational pillars for the live evolution of Society. Justice ensures fairness, equality and the protection of rights while Ehsan, denotes human character through compassion, empathy and selflessness.~~
