Q NO 4(B) Punctuation

If you look about you and consider the lives of others as well as your own; if you think how few are born with honour and many die without name or children; how little beauty we see and how few friends we hear of; how many diseases and how much poverty there is in the world, you will fall down upon knees and instead of repining at one affliction; will admire so many blessings which you have received from the hand of God.

Translation

Literature is not just game of words, but mirror image of human experiences and emotions. Whenever a poet or an author holds a pen, he describes his era in such a way that leaves traces^{of it} for upcoming generations. Our great poets such as Ghalib, Iqbal and Faiz did not just write poetry, but described whole civilization through words. It is sad that today's generation does not read books and lost in glamour of social media. If we did not practice our literary traditions, we will lose our identity. Literature is the moment that connects past to present and present to future. We should create interest of reading in youth and introduce them with our great authors and poets so that they stay connected to their roots.

London: Place For Equal Society And Merit

According to the author, London is the only place for equal society. The reason is that individuals in company are treated based on their value. Contrarily, in other parts of United Kingdom like Manchester, man's worth lies in his land, money, connections, and prospects in life. People have to consider not what, but whom they contradict. In London, man relies on quality of sense and wit or good manners he brings into society. As a parliamentarian and commoner, merchant and manufacturer,

Q 1.

Modern man suffers from various no less dangerous diseases called "time diseases", including heart and circulatory system diseases and mental diseases like, stress and anxiety. These were not common in past which indicates a fundamental common factor in these various ailments that is modern civilization. As humans are not supposed to work like machines, they are living beings.

Q No 2.

Modern man suffers from his time because he has no confidence in God's domination over world because he considers this world as the only reality. Without God, man suffers from his fate; from disordered world as he is unable to put it in order; from his work as it makes him unsatisfied and exhausted; from his neighbours as he lets them interfere and from himself because of the fear of and lust for life.

Q NO 3.

The cure to combat these ills is that modern man should consider God the ultimate reality and have faith in Him. As man is not a machine so he should not work like one. Also, everyone should mind his or her own business. Lastly, people's time should be centered in God instead of having fear or lust.
