Question 1 (part A)

Punctuate the following sentences.

It was almost midnight when the young scholar returned to his room that he had left in a state of revolt: Piles of books lay like islands in a turbulent sea, papers fluttered on the floor as if impatient to be read, and on the desk a single lamp burned its halo warming. A photograph of his grandmother which seemed to smile even in such disorders who would have thought she once pulled tales to children in the village. He wondered, would she have laughed at his neat theories written now in the margins of a book.
