

14-Nov-2025

Essay

Test-3

Name: Maryam Kainaat

✓ When others build a wall,
you should look for a door

Outline

I. Introduction

- a) Attention Grabber
- b) Explanation of statement
- c) Thesis Statement:

II - Recognizing obstacles as part of life

- a) Challenges are natural and appear in personal, academic, and professional life.
- b) Obstacles shape a person's character, teaching patience, and problem-solving.
- c) Facing difficulties strengthens mental and emotional resilience.

III - Creativity as the key to finding new paths

- a) Creative thinking uncovers opportunities ~~hidden~~ disguised as problems.
- b) Changing perspective transforms obstacles into Opportunities.

- c) Innovation emerges when someone refuses to stop at walls.

IV- Personal Resilience: Overcoming individual challenges

- a) Helen Keller overcame blindness and deafness to write, speak, and inspire the world.
- b) Muniba Mazari turned her paraplegia into motivation, becoming a speaker, artist, and Asia's first wheelchair-using model.
- c) Thomas Edison failed repeatedly before inventing the light bulb.
- d) These individual acts illustrate that perseverance creates opportunities where barriers appear insurmountable.

V- Showcasing National and Historical Determination

- a) Qaid-e-Azam overcame political resistance to create Pakistan.
- b) Nelson Mandela spent 27 years in prison but refused to surrender to injustice, eventually leading South Africa to end apartheid and achieve equality.

- c) Movements such as women's suffrage and the civil rights movement challenged societal walls and achieved lasting change.
- d) Focused effort and strong leadership can overcome social and political barriers and open new paths for a nation or society.

VI - Adapting to modern challenges

- a) Students and professionals adapt by learning new skills or exploring alternative paths after setbacks.
- b) Entrepreneurs convert rejection or failure into innovative business solutions.
- c) Societies advance when people actively seek solutions rather than stop at obstacles.

VII - Hope and persistence as driving forces

- a) A positive mindset keeps people motivated even when success is delayed.
- b) Consistent effort reveals doors hidden behind apparent walls.

c) Effort and patience will open the door at the right time.

VIII- Conclusion

Essay

Life often places barriers in our path, just like walls that ~~stop~~ us from moving forward. A wall represents a problem, rejection, or challenge, while a door symbolizes a new opportunity or solution. When most people see a wall and stop, a wise person looks for a door that can lead to progress. History show that ~~success~~ belongs to those who think differently and ~~do not~~ give up. Growth and success arise from finding doors amid obstacles. Rather than surrendering, individuals seek alternatives, turning challenges into stepping stones and transforming barriers into pathways for progress and personal development.

Obstacles appear in every stage of life, and understanding their role helps people respond wisely. By facing challenges directly, individuals learn essential skills that guide them toward growth success.

Challenges are a natural part of every aspect of life, whether personal, academic, or professional, and everyone encounters them at some point. They shape character by teaching fundamental skills such as problem-solving and creativity. Facing difficulties also strengthens mental and emotional resilience, helping individuals stay focused during tough times. Each barrier offers an opportunity to learn from mistakes and develop determination. Understanding and confronting obstacles prepares people to seek new avenues and move forward confidently in life.

Once individual recognize obstacles, the next step is to approach them with creativity. Thinking differently allows people to turn barriers into opportunities and find paths where others see dead ends.

Creative thinking uncovers solution where others see only problems. By changing perspective obstacles transform into opportunities for growth and progress. Innovation begins when people refuse to stop at a wall and explore new approaches. Steve Jobs turned a major setback, being fired from Apple, into an opportunity to build Next and Pixar, later returning to Apple to launch the iMac, iPod, and iPhone, turning the company into a global success.

Facing ~~imagination~~ challenges with imagination opens doors that might otherwise remain closed. Creativity helps overcome difficulties and prepares individuals to handle future obstacles with confidence.

While creativity opens new paths, resilience enables individuals to overcome personal limitations. Instances of people transforming their challenges into achievements demonstrate how determination and courage create opportunities from adversity.

Helen Keller overcame blindness and deafness, transforming her limitations into remarkable achievements as an American author, disability rights advocate, political activist, and lecturer. With the guidance of her teacher Anne Sullivan, who patiently taught her language and communication, Keller demonstrated that determination and support can break even the toughest barriers. Muniba Mazari turned paraplegia into motivation after a severe car accident left her wheelchair-bound. She not only became a renowned motivational speaker and artist but also Asia's first wheelchair-using model, using her platform to empower others and raise awareness about resilience. Thomas Edison persisted through hundreds of failed experiments before inventing the lightbulb, proving that perseverance produces tangible results. Stories such as these exemplify that ~~perseverance~~, persistence, hope and determination open doors even when obstacles appear insurmountable. Personal resilience transforms adversity into growth, achievement, and new prospects.

walls and obstacles appear in every aspect of life, yet they are not the end of the journey. From civil rights movement that challenged societal barriers to leaders and innovators who transformed setbacks into success, history shows that courage, creativity, and perseverance open doors where walls once stood. Societies advance when people act boldly, learn new skills, and seek solutions rather than Surrender to barriers. Hope and persistence drive effort until hidden doors are revealed. Triumph belongs to those who face difficulties, act decisively, and persistently search for the door beyond every wall.

" IF YOU CAN MEET WITH TRIUMPH AND DISASTER, AND TREAT THOSE TWO IMPOSTERS JUST THE SAME. "

(Rudyard Kipling)

< ————— >

THE

END

Postscripting 30