Sit and Study in classroom all day long and when they reach home, they do not get enough time to do any physical studies because of homework and tuitions.

Due to this schedule, children are getting diseases like, diabetes and fatness. That is why, extracurricular activities in educational institutions are crucial for physical health, as students participate in sports like, cricket, football, volleyball, and badminton which is basically their full body workout. Thus, extra-curricular activities play huge role in physical health of students.

Similarly, students' mental health is also improve due to these activities. As students are now having problems like, anxiety and and depression due to burden of studies, expectations of society, parents and teachers. However, when there would be extra-curricular activities in schools or colleges, students would get relief. They would have opportunity to participate in their favourite activity which would be best for their mental health. Hence, one cannot deny the importance of these activities to keep mental health of students stable and secure.
