Subject: English (Precis and Composition)

Q No 1:- Precis of the paragraph:

People often believe that renewable energy like solar power, wind turbines and electric cars will save the planet from pollution. Governments, companies and environmentalists call them the future of a clean world. But in reality these technologies also harm the environment in hidden ways. The making of solar panels, wind turbines and electric car batteries needs huge amount of rare minerals like lithium and cobalt. These are mined in poor countries through methods that destroy land and pollute water. For example; electric car batteries release more carbon during production than normal engines and are hard to recycle, which increases electronic waste. Even though solar and wind energy seem clean, they still depend
