Q2 Preci

Title : The Myth of "Net zero carbon" emission and Environmental marketing

Renewable energy is considered as a way of curbing environmental degradation and the reduction in use of fossil fuel. Instead, these renewable resources are themselves part of the environmental degradation process which make the net zero emission concept a rhetoric. As electric vehicles, solar panels and wind turbines are produced through elements which are mined. The process of mining exhibit carbon dioxide and make land uninhabitable. Moreover, renewable resources are produced in fossil fuel production plant and require it further for assembly and transport. In addition, they are useable for a limited period of time. After that, they need to be recycled or ~~be~~ wasted. In essence, "net zero emission" scheme seems implausible. The term, on the contrary, benefit the producers of equipments for these technologies. Whereas, a sustainable environment need a responsible approach to prevent environmental rehabilitation.

Q3: Answer the Passage

- ① Timothy's rivals advised him coal to a coal rich new castle to humiliate him and make him loose everything.
- ② Fortunately, when the ship reached new castle, there was a strike local producer. This production stoppage surged the demand of coal and Timothy sold his cargo for good profit.

③ The author implies in Timothy's case that despite being low in intelligence if luck is on your side it could yield profits.

④ The challenge by Denter to the conventional ideas of business is that: confidence, luck and underestimation can turn mockery into fortunes.

Q7 Translation

If any professor of Urdu claims that he understands the sayings of Ghalib very well and speaks about his beautiful art in a way to create the environment pleasing; then, indeed, he is displaying his readiness. But if he is asked to say a single rhyme like Ghalib, he will become speechless. Because understanding and creation are two different things worlds.

Understanding is the production of mind, whereas creation is the culmination of intuition and revelation. The status that Ghalib achieved was not just because of of his reading and hardwork.
Instead, it was because of extraordinary intelligence, perception and God given reflection. This is the reason that after centuries his poetry affects the heart the same as it did in his time.

Qy: correct the sentences.
