Q2: Environmental Crisis

In the imagination of the people, renewable energy resources seem a way forward to heal the planet though under these promises made by organizations, the planet is exhausting in reality.

The solar panels, wind turbines and electric vehicles has its adverse effects in the name of clean and cost effective technology. This technology demands extraction of earth minerals by ruinous practices often from world's poorest regions rendering vast lands poisoned and uninhabitable. Hence, one environmental crisis is directly proportional to another.

Electric vehicles, which seem a glory, the production of their batteries not only produce more carbon but are also a challenge to recycle. Under the banner of progress it is a huge waste catastrophe.

The tragedy is that the green labels has become a marketing enterprise rather than an awakening which means the planet is not being healed but is being wounded in other ways.

Q: 7

In any Urdu professor claims that he understands the art of Ghalib completely ~~thesis~~ and can talk and intact (the crowd) upon his art then definitely he is showing off his educational skills or capacity. But if he will be asked to say/speak a stanza like that of Ghalib then he will be helpless. It is because thoughts and creation are two different worlds. Thoughts are the of ~~creat~~ mind whereas creativity is a result of self-intuition and understanding. The status which Ghalib achieved, is not because of deep reading or hardwork but it was the God gifted ability of thinking and understanding.

This is the reason that today even after decades his poetry touches the hearts as it used to do in his times.
