Title : Renewable Energy: unseen repercussions on <sup>the</sup> planet

Renewable energy has considered as humanity's salvation. Activities termed buzzed carbon neutrality and net zero making them pinky promise. The overstress on solar panels, wind turbines and electric vehicles bear expenses. Likewise green technology requires massive rare-earth minerals, cobalt and lithium for smooth function. Areas like Chile, Congo and China removed irrigated lands to find sustainable materials. Human's addiction, moreover, towards green tech has pivoted environmentalism into commercialized entity - then enlightenment. The true pathway to sustainability lies in demand restraint, efficiency and systematic humility.
