Attempt in idiomatic and proverbial manner
Focus on grammar please
Do not attempt word by word

If a well-versed Professor of Urdu claims that he has a deep understanding of Ghalib's poetry and can hold a captivating discussion on it. Then, surely he has demonstrated his academic expertise, but if he is asked to compose a verse like Ghalib, he would fail. This is because comprehension and creation are two separate ^{realms} worlds. Comprehension is the result of intellect while creation is the result of intuition and inspiration. The stature of Ghalib achieved was not merely due to study or hardwork, but it was amalgam of extraordinary genius, sensitivity and divine blessing. This is the reason that even after centuries, the poetry of Ghalib has same impact on mind as it did in his time.

Answer of Q#1:
The rival of Timothy Dexter advised him to ship coal to Newcastle due to utter jealousy of his success. They ~~reverted~~ ^{persuaded} him and gave him this decision to incur a major loss to his business. It was because Newcastle was abundant in local coal production but destiny had other plans. When his ships arrived, local coal mines went on strike. Hence, his business flourished against the plans of his competition.

Answer to Q#2:

Dexter's apparently foolish coal venture of exporting coal to Newcastle was overturned by an unexpected event in England. When his ships reached England, the local coal mines went on strike. This stopped the local production which provide market space for Dexter's ~~export~~ exported coal. Hence, he earned massive profits over his apparently foolish decision.

X ——— X

Answer to Q#3:

The author implies that the successes of Timothy Dexter were are stupid ideas but luck had other plans for his ventures. His decisions were mostly not sane in the world of business like exporting cats to West Indies, bed warmers to Caribbean etc. But due to his luck, all his decisions turned out to be extremely profitable, earning him big successes in business.

X ——— X

Answer to Q#4:

Dexter's repeated success in turning mockery into profit challenges conventional ideas about business wisdom and education. Normally business flourish on market competitiveness and innovative ideas. But in the case of Dexter, it can be seen that sometimes being underestimated is the best advantage you can get in an already competitive environment. Therefore, sometimes.

Answer to Q#5:

The perception of concepts like "foolishness" and "genius" are subjective. It all depends on the results of a decision whether it was genius or a stupid one. One's intellect cannot ascertain a particular outcome and luck also plays its role in one's achievements. All of this was clear in the case study of Dexter how ill advice and jealousy of your competitors is never a factor under-determining your success.

PREFACE:

The Deception of Green Energy

TITLE: The Darkside of the Green Economy.

05/20

Avoid overwriting

Write clear and short sentences
Avoid complicated sentences

Sentence Structure

Renewable energy appears to be the only ^{environmental} solution to the "damaged" caused by fossil fuel combustion, but in principle. Green revolution is a contradiction to what it pledges. It is damaging the planet more than healing it. The dark side of clean energy is mining of rare-earth minerals like lithium and cobalt, that is exhausting the arid land of Congo and China. Also, the equipment used for mining is high-energy and destructive to environment. Along with this, the salvation of electric vehicles is also a misconception. Batteries used in these vehicles leave a larger carbon footprint than traditional vehicles. When fully used once, these batteries are difficult to
