

Qno 4: Translation.

Success in life is not merely a result of fate and luck but a result of consistency, hardwork, and wisdom. The path to success is full of hardships and unexpected hurdles, but those who strive with ambition and courage, become successful in reaching their destination. Some people envy the success of others, and take decisions in a hurry, and because of this, they get caught in a trap of failure. However, those who consult advices and prefer experience, find a way in every difficult situation. Those people who identify their strengths and try to control them, they not only attain success for themselves, but also become a guidance for others. Similarly, those who are keen to attain knowledge and learn from new experiences, they become more capable in taking better decisions in their thoughts and knowledge.
