QUESTION #3

Answer the questions:

- 1 How is sportsmanship conceptualized in the passage and what virtue does it encompass?

Ans Sportsmanship refers to one's forbearance attitude during a sport, and generally associated with the virtues like unbaisness, patience, bravery and consistency while dealing with one's opponents ~~of~~ or an authority.

- 2 What --- among them?

The four elements of sportsmanship present in the paragraph are fitness, winning attitude, equity and unbaisness. The author emphasized on the balance among these four elements, because winning attitude of a sportsman sometimes compromises the principles of equity and unbaisness and thus leads to a dispute.

3 According to the passage, how --- Sportsmanship
Ans The desire to win sometimes conflict with elements of equity and fairness in sportsmanship, because with this attitude sportsman only focuses on his/her performance and competition. The moral rules of game has nothing to do with the ultimate purpose of winning a game and becomes a famous personality.

4 What are some behaviours --- perception of sportsmanship.
Ans The behaviours associated with "sore losers" are blame game, scapegoating, making excuses and mud slinging, while "bad winner" often tries to downgrade their opponents ~~with~~ and blows their own trumpet to disrespect them. Such behaviours impacts the perception of sportsmanship in bad manners and often leading to low self confidence and value.

QUESTION # 07

TRANSLATION

The problem of our society is that everyone appeals for a change but when it comes to one's actions then all backup. There are revolutionary chants in movements, several recommendations in writings but takes no time in compromising a minor rule in daily life - In short, society seems to be a double sided coin. On one side, there is a dream world, while on other, a grim reality. We all want others to be righteous, however fear self accountability. Hence, each man seems to be a mirror image of charity begins at home. Nations do not ~~build~~ <sup>do</sup> build <sup>on</sup> raising voices but on actions. And actions only flourish when a man necessitate honesty in <sup>ones</sup> individual life, otherwise social development would become a far cry.
