Q.7

AnsTranslation

It is a sad factor of our society that every man is interested in development but when it comes to their own actions, everyone goes back. There are slogans of revolution in mass rallies. A lot of motivation is given in written script, but it does not take even a single second to compromise on the rules of daily life, that result in two dimensions of the society: one side is the dreams and other side the bitter reality. We all want improvement of each other but are afraid of our own improvement. Everyone is an example of a darkness in the shadow of light. Nations are not built through slogans ~~but~~ but by the character and this character is built when an individual picks the sincerity factor in his personality, otherwise, the collective development becomes just a dream.
