Failure of Regional Organizations:

Introduction:-

The aim of the regional organizations is to provide a meaningful integration and cooperation between the countries located close to each other in that specific region. In south asia many regional organizations were formed in the history like SAARC, ECO etc. but all of them failed to deliver meaningful integration and cooperation between the member countries. It failed because of the rivalries between the member states, natural disasters, foreign interferences, and terrorism. The regional organizations can only be successful if proper rules and regulation are formed which are equally binding on all the states.

Regional Organizations in South Asia:

There are many regional organizations formed in south asia which are given below.

Reasons of Failure of Regional Cooperation Organization:

There are many contributing factors due to which these regional organizations are unable to achieve their goals and create a regional harmony and cooperation.

1- Internal Conflicts Among Member States:

one of the most important reasons of failure of the regional cooperation & organizations is the rivalries between the member states. These rivalries produce the conflicting ideas and never agree on common decisions which lead the organization disability to solve the issues and produce effective environment.

2. Lack of Participation by the regional countries:

one of the reason of the failure of regional organizations is the lack of participation by all the regional countries. only few countries usually joins the regional organizations and the remaining states remain Neutral.

3- Terrorism:-

In south asia the terrorism is the most crucial issue for all the countries. due to the incidences of terrorism the conflict of countries also happens as seen in pakistan and india recent conflicts. The regional organizations are unable to contain and curtail the terrorism effectively. This marks the failure of the regional organizations.

Terrorism causes the economic losses, effects trade, effects trust/trust issues, human losses, insecurity, regional conflicts and blame games.

4. Natural Disasters:-

one of the hurdle in the progressive working of the regional organizations is the natural disasters. The natural disasters causes many problems like economic losses, human losses, Agricultural losses. It poses a great challenge for the organizations.

The regional organizations are unable to control these disasters and support the effected countries

The regional organizations are also unable to restrict the use of fossil fuels on the member states due to which it can't function properly.

5- Interference of West:

one of the reason of failure of the regional organizations is the interference of west in the affairs of the south asian countries. The west interferes for his own interests and some times support one country against another. Due to the interference of west, the regional organizations are unable to build a stable bond between the members countries of south-Asia to address the common problems. Hence the regional organizations faces failure.

Practical Measures for Strengthening Regional Connectivity:

Some of the practical measures, through which the regional organizations will achieve their goals and produce the harmony and connectivity among member states, are explained. By ensuring the implementation of these measures will produce the quick and positive results -

1. Full participation of the Regional States:

The regional organization should represent the whole region. All the countries should join the organization to establish a common representative structure of the region. Without the full participation it is not easy to achieve the connectivity and get benefits.

2. Resolution of Internal ### Conflicts:-

The regional organizations should actively resolve the conflicts in the member states and resolve the issues in them because with conflicting ideas of the member states it can never reach to the conclusion of any decision.

3- Control over terrorism:

The regional organizations should unite all the member states and calibrate the efforts of states so that to get control over the terrorism. Without resolving this issue they can not achieve their goals.

4- Common Binding Laws and Regulations:

The regional organizations are required to legislate the common rules, laws and regulations which will be equally applicable and binding on the member states and strict punishment for the violation if someone did it. By this way the

They can achieve the success.

Conclusion:

The regional organizations are struggling with many hurdles like terrorism, internal conflicts, lack of full participation, natural disasters, and foreign interference. These issues pose a great hurdle in the progress of the regional organizations to achieve their goals. To address these issues the need of binding rules and regulation, full participation, resolution of internal conflicts and control over terrorism is required. Only then they can get their goals.

of power, faulty administrative structure, foreign interference and security issues.

How Political Instability

Lead to Economic Constraints:

Political instability always lead to economic crisis.

According to the great muslim philosopher

"Ibn-Khildun"

He gave the relationship between the economic stability and political stability.

"The political stability leads to the rise in economy and political instability leads to fall in economy."

"He also said that the rise in the economy leads to the rise of the state and fall in economy leads to disparities and zeal of the state"

* Impact of Political Instability on Diplomatic Performance:

The political instability badly impacts the diplomatic performance of the state.

Because the political instability leads to the changing of the regime. Each new government has different point of view and idea. He never follows the policies of the previous government. Due to this reason only short-term policies are successful rather than long-term policies. Hence by this way it impacts the diplomatic performance of a country.

Causes of Political Instability and its

There are many causes of the political instability in Pakistan some of them are.

1- Political clashes:-

The primary cause of political instability is the political clashes among the politicians. They only try to fulfil their own interests even at the cost of other's rights.

2- Lust for Power:-

One of the reasons for the political instability is the lust of politicians for power. They never allow the current government to act on their own for the prosperity of the country.

3. Faulty Administrative structure:

One of the reasons of the political instability is the faulty administrative structure of Pakistan which needs reforms. Due to this reason no government has complete his tenure since the inception of Pakistan.

4. No separation of Power:-

One of the reasons of the political instability is the lack of separation of power.

According to a great philosopher Montesquieu

"The separation of power into legislative, executive and judiciary is important for liberty and state".

So in Pakistan the legislative, executive and judiciary

DATE: _____

DAY: _____

has no proper separation of power.

According to Thomas Hobbes

"A mixed state never exists".

5- Foreign Interference:

Foreign interference is also one of the reasons of political instability in Pakistan.
The structural adjustment policies of IMF are one of the reasons of political instability.

6- Security Issues:-

Security issues
from the east border and west border i.e. India and Afghanistan also creates the hurdles in the politics of Pakistan.

Impact of Political Instability on National Security and Foreign Policy:

The Political instability is one of the most significant issues for the Pakistan because a government changes again and again and never completed the tenure since the inception of Pakistan. It leads to the successful short term policies but long term policies always fails because each new government brings their own new policies and never completes the projects and diplomatic policies of the previous government.
